

UK education fair to address admissions, scholarships, career & post-study options

An education fair focusing on higher education opportunities in the United Kingdom will be held on Saturday from 10:00 AM to 3:00 PM at Muffakham Jah Engineering College. The event is being organised by Global Tree in collaboration with the National Indian Students and Alumni Union (NISAU).

“The UK continues to be a preferred destination for Indian students due to its globally recognised education system, a wide range of academic programs, and strong post-study work opportunities,” said Srikar Alapati, Founder and Managing Director, Global Tree.

The event will provide prospective students with detailed information on undergraduate and postgraduate programs, eligibility criteria, and admission procedures. “The aim is to offer students a reliable overview of academic pathways in the UK and assist them in making informed decisions,” he said.

A key component of the event will be a masterclass on employability, delivered by a London School of Economics alumnus. “Participants of this session will receive a certificate endorsed by the British High Commission and NISAU,” Alapati stated. The masterclass will address topics such as post-study career prospects and student life in the UK.

Attendees will also have access to exclusive benefits, including scholarships, application fee waivers, and the possibility of on-the-spot admission offers.

The event is expected to see the presence of notable figures such as Virendra Sharma, former Member of Parliament and senior UK Labour Party member; Sanam Arora, Chairperson of NISAU; Jayesh Ranjan, Special Chief Secretary, Information Technology, Electronics & Communications, Government of Telangana; along with senior officials from the British Council and British Deputy High Commission.

“Due to limited capacity, we recommend that students and parents register in advance. Registered participants will be eligible for a lucky draw, with the chance to win a tablet. Additionally, students attending the fair will receive complimentary passes to the Badshah concert scheduled for May 31 at SS Convention, Shamshabad,” he added.
